*Support, when you need it,
where you need it.*

The LunchBox School Cafeteria Point-of-Sale system is sold, installed, and supported by Computer Dynamics

Good technical support can be one of the most important aspects of purchasing a new system for your cafeteria. You can buy a great system, but if you are not properly taught how to use this new tool, you will be wasting your money and time.

Our typical new LunchBox customer receives comprehensive on-site training as well as support staff on-site for your first live day with the system. This ensures that your school's staff is properly trained and comfortable with their new system from opening breakfast to generating their state reports.

After the installation, the support does not stop. Your annual support agreement provides your staff with unlimited support for your system.* Our support staff is available when you need them & they are ready to exceed your expectations. We utilize the latest technology to aid us in supporting our customers such as remote connection software that allows us to see and control your LunchBox computers (with your permission) as if we were sitting in front of them. Furthermore, our support technicians attend support and training certification classes. This ensures that they are equipped to provide our customers with a speedy resolution to any support issues.

Don't take our word for it!

Just ask your LunchBox sales representative for a school reference list and ask our other customers about their high level of satisfaction with our support staff.
